

Here's Your Access Link!

And, Thanks for your Interest in this Product

Free Demo Information

This free, trial version of Using Commas, Part 1 is complete and fully-functional. Its purpose is to illustrate the functionality and scope of its content.

The full, registered version is exactly like this trial version; however, all of those annoying “Free Trial Version” watermarks have been entirely removed.

Accessing the MicroLesson on PC's, Laptops, Macs, and MacBooks

This MicroLesson will run on all of the most widely-used browsers, including Internet Explorer, Firefox, Google Chrome, and Safari. To open the application, simply copy and paste <http://tinyurl.com/h2pbn8l> into your preferred browser's URL address bar.

Enlarging the Presentation

If the presentation is difficult for students at the rear of the classroom to view comfortably, simply increase the zoom setting on your browser.

The zoom setting is typically in the upper-right corner of your browser window, often in the “Settings” menu or accessible through the gear icon:

Increase the zoom level here.

Upgrading to the Full Version

If you and/or your kids like what you see in this free trial version, I'd be delighted for this to become a permanent part of your classroom resources library.

The full, registered version is exactly like this trial version, but as mentioned before, all of those annoying “Free Trial Version” watermarks have been entirely removed. Plus, a word search and a crossword puzzle specific to this MicroLessons are included!

In closing, I appreciate your interest in this product, and thanks for all you do for kids!
